From the Website (https://joshhawley.com/):

Raised in Lexington, Missouri, Josh Hawley currently serves as the state’s Attorney General. As Missouri’s top prosecutor, Josh has earned a reputation for taking on the big and the powerful to protect Missouri workers and families. He has battled big government and big business, the special interests, organized crime, and anyone who would threaten the wellbeing of Missourians. Josh is recognized as one of the nation’s leading constitutional lawyers. He has litigated at the Supreme Court of the United States, the federal courts of appeals, and in state court, fighting for the people’s liberties. Josh has been a dedicated advocate for religious liberty, both as Attorney General and for his entire professional career. Before he became Attorney General, Josh fought Obamacare at the Supreme Court — and won — as one of the lead attorneys in the landmark Hobby Lobby case. Josh was also a lead attorney in the Hosanna-Tabor case at the Supreme Court, protecting the rights of churches.

Before serving in Congress, he was a history teacher, a county official, and in 1984 became the first Republican elected as Missouri’s Secretary of State in more than 50 years. Senator Blunt also served four years as the president of his alma mater, Southwest Baptist University in Bolivar, Missouri. Senator Blunt is a member of the Smithsonian Council for American Art and is a Trustee of the State Historical Society of Missouri. (concerning foreign affairs): Senator Blunt is in favor of supporting our allies in parts of the world that share our nation's vision for freedom and human rights. He understands the important role that the United States plays in protecting and promoting global commerce, which creates jobs for American workers and strengthens our influence abroad.

On the House Floor
(excerpt March 4, 2010 while in the House of Representatives) “Volunteers have made lasting contributions around the world…(they) improve the lives of the people they assist affirms our nation's commitment to helping people help themselves in the pursuit of life, liberty and prosperity throughout the world.”

(concerning foreign aid): Though spending on foreign aid only accounts for about 1% of total federal spending, Congress must still root out waste, eliminate fraud, and pare back even well-intentioned programs. Any American aid ought to be narrowly tailored to specific purposes which are measurable and achievable and clearly in our national interest. Additionally, financial and structural aid should be directed to countries demonstrating a resolute commitment to democracy and transparency. Rather than creating dependency on foreign donors amongst aid recipients, our goal ought to be to encourage entrepreneurship, free trade, and domestic industry. I oppose funding of U.S. dollars going to countries opposed to our ideals.

From the Website (www.long.house.gov):
For over thirty years, Congressman Long was a real estate broker and owner of Billy Long Auctions, LLC in Springfield, along with being a radio talk show host from 1999-2006 on KWTO AM560. His experience running a small business and his time taking calls on the radio from concerned citizens gives him a unique understanding of the challenges facing families and small businesses in the Ozarks.

In 2018 Representative Long’s staff helped provide a U.S. flag flown over the Capitol for a ceremony marking the death David Crozier of Bolivar, one of the two first Peace Corps Volunteers who died in service.

From the Website (www.jasonsmith.house.gov):

Jason was raised in Salem, Missouri where he still runs the same family farm that was started by his great grandfather. He attended Salem High School, where he was an active member of FFA, and the University of Missouri – Columbia to pursue a double major in Agricultural Economics and Business Administration.

After receiving degrees from both programs in three years, he attended law school in Oklahoma before returning home to serve his community. Back home in Dent County, he began running the family farm and practicing law.

Jason has earned 100% ratings from the American Conservative Union and the Chamber of Commerce, he is a lifetime member of the National Rifle Association and, as the son of a pastor, he is proudly pro-life and supports traditional values. Jason attends Grace Community Church in Salem where he volunteered as a Sunday school teacher for their church’s youth.
