(concerning foreign aid): The U.S. must carefully reassess the benefit of our financial support to the United Nations, which frequently fails to promote our national interests abroad. That is why I supported legislation that would eliminate all foreign aid to any country that votes against America's interests in the United Nations more that 50 percent of the time.

One of the highlights of Warren’s military career was witnessing the fall of the Berlin Wall while he was serving in Germany.

In 2000, Warren returned to Ohio to help with his father’s manufacturing business. Warren started another business and earned an MBA from the University of Notre Dame. Warren built cultures of excellence, growing the family shop from 20 employees to multiple companies with over 200. He is a tireless advocate for the small business community, and he is the former Chairman of the Dayton Region Manufacturers Association. Warren won a special election in 2016 to fill the remainder of the term of outgoing Rep. John Boehner. (concerning foreign affairs): U.S. foreign policy must reflect the needs of new levels of interdependence globally. Our foreign policy should encourage economic and democratic growth and protect national security. While maintaining our sovereignty, the U.S. supports the efforts of international organizations in peacekeeping and crisis management. As a partner for peace, the U.S. can assist in negotiations in the troubled regions of the Middle East, Africa, and elsewhere.

From the Website (https://www.voteanthonygonzalez.com):

My grandparents fled Cuba under threat of execution from the Castro regime. Along with their children, they came to Ohio in search of a better life inspired by a belief in our democratic principles and the ability to create their own American story. The values of limited government, free markets, and equal rights for all Americans inspired their journey to our country, and continue to allow each successive generation of Americans to create the freest most prosperous nation in human history.

The American Dream that my grandparents risked their lives to pursue, and I have been so fortunate to live, has felt too distant and too remote for far too many people in our state and country today. Wages have flatlined and jobs have been shipped overseas. Our federal budget is so bloated that we cannot do the basic things that our country needs to thrive. Meanwhile, as a society and a Congress, we are being pulled further apart as our challenges have never been greater.
