2015 Annual General Membership Meeting
June 5, 2015
Berkeley, CA

Welcome to Peace Corps Connect – Berkeley and to NPCA’s 2015 Annual General Membership Meeting

The year 2014 marked the 35th anniversary of the National Peace Corps Association (NPCA), whose founding in 1979 was initiated by a number of RPCV member groups. The year was marked by a renewal of commitments by many of our loyal supporters, adoption of a new Strategic Plan, establishment of a formal partnership agreement with the Peace Corps, and continued progress in building a sustainable business model for the NPCA.

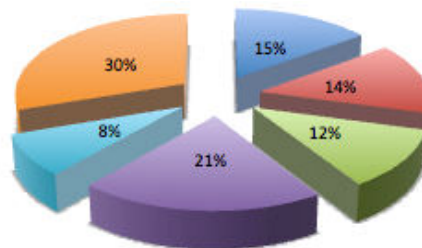

At the June Board of Directors meeting, the NPCA adopted a compelling Strategic Plan for the years 2014-18. This plan was the result of an intensive planning process, led by Glenn Blumhorst and the NPCA staff, and was shaped by continuous dialogue with our Board of Directors, leaders of member groups, and other key stakeholders. The Strategic Plan focuses our energy, activities, and financial resources on two key goals: (1) enabling members and member groups to thrive, and (2) helping the Peace Corps be the best that it can be. It provides a foundation for the NPCA’s 2015 annual operating plan and budget, and will help to set priorities for programs and staff responsibilities on an ongoing basis.

Most of our ongoing activities and new initiatives this year reflect this strategic approach, for example:

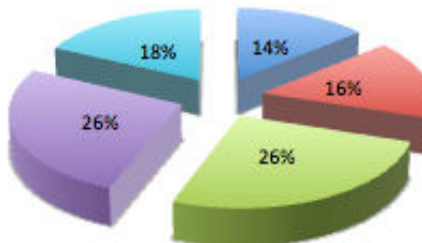

- As the Ebola outbreak became a crisis situation in West Africa, the Peace Corps community responded, with the NPCA playing an instrumental role. Driven by member groups of RPCVs from the affected countries of Liberia, Sierra Leone and Guinea, the NPCA quickly launched the Ebola Relief Fund, which raised over $90,000 from more than 350 donors to support community-driven projects by West African NGOs identified by RPCVs.
- In collaboration with Northeastern University, we launched the Cultural Agility Leadership Lab (CALL), sending corporate employees to share their expertise with local NGOs requiring technical assistance. Earlier this spring, the first cohort of employees from Cigna’s information technology department in Bloomfield, Conn. returned from one week in Bali, Indonesia, where they worked with two local nonprofit organizations and received cultural coaching from two Returned Peace Corps Volunteers.
- NPCA and Water Charity are partnering to make clean drinking water and improved sanitation for all a global reality. Through the NPCA / Water Charity partnership, a Training and Support Initiative (TSI) will provide Volunteers and local governmental and nongovernmental organizations with face-to-face and remote training on issues ranging from funding, to technical support, to managing training programs that will sustain these projects. A “help desk” for PCVs and RPCVs will draw on a repository of Peace Corps knowledge and be available to provide coaching through each phase of a project’s implementation.
- NPCA advocates helped score some significant victories with the 113th Congress. This includes the approval of language that will implement the Peace Corps Equity Act, a mid-year mobilization to confirm the Peace Corps Director and passage of Peace Corps Commemorative legislation at the beginning of 2014.

Total	$1,332,469

Financial results for 2014 showed an increase in revenues of $166,081 (15%) over the previous year, although we fell slightly short of our goal to achieve a break-even result. At $1,254,019, revenues for the year were 6% below expenses of $1,332,469. Increases in individual contributions, especially from a growing Shriver Circle, were a key factor in the improved revenue picture. For 2015, we are confident in our ability to continue moving the NPCA on the path to sustained financial health.

For the fifth consecutive year, the NPCA earned the distinction of a four-star rating from Charity Navigator, the nation's largest independent evaluator of charities. This rating assures current and potential donors that the NPCA provides a high level of stewardship and accountability in managing the funds that are provided by our donors, members, and partners.

After a year of encouraging progress on many fronts, we once again extend our thanks to the wide range of Peace Corps community members who provide the NPCA with indispensable support. The NPCA exists to serve you and support you in all that you do to sustain a lifelong commitment to Peace Corps values.
